DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 3 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 3 is unclear and indefinite. For example, one cannot have "a tiered set of one baffle" as suggested in the alternative at line 2.

Claim 3 line 3, "the set" and "the baffle set" lack clear antecedent basis.

Claim 3 "such that the discharge rate of fluid" is incomplete.

Claim 13 calls for "discharge riser having openings", claim 4 calls for a plurality of holes on a riser. It appears that they are the same; therefore they should be related.

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 8,9,10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Claims 8, 9, 10 calls for the "lower inlet area of a baffle" is less than "non-overflow inlet area of the discharge riser". However, the "inlet area" is described in the specification as pertaining to the area of opening 122 which is approximately equal to the area defined by lower edge 121 minus the cross section area of riser 110. The examiner notes in the specification page 3, the language called for in claims 8,9,10 is stated therein. However, such subject matter is not described in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to make and/or use the invention as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claim 14 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Finley et al. (US 6313545).

Finley et al. discloses a flow limiting inlet structure (see Fig. 14) comprising a discharge riser (this is considered member (20)) surrounded by a tiered set of nested baffles (40) wherein an inlet area of the set increases as fluid depth increases.

Allowable Subject Matter

7. Claims 4,5,7,11,12 and 15 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant argues that examiner agreed that Finley member (20) does not discharge fluid but instead introduces fluid. The applicant is correct. However, upon further, consideration, the examiner determined that all the structural limitations called for in claim 14 were taught by Finley. It was the "intended use" limitation that caused the examiner to incorrectly withdraw the Finley reference. However, a recitation of the intended use of the claimed invention must result in a structural difference between the claimed invention and the prior art in order to patentably distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art. If the prior art structure is capable of performing the intended use, then it meets the claim.

Conclusion
